

UNITE WITH IGNITE

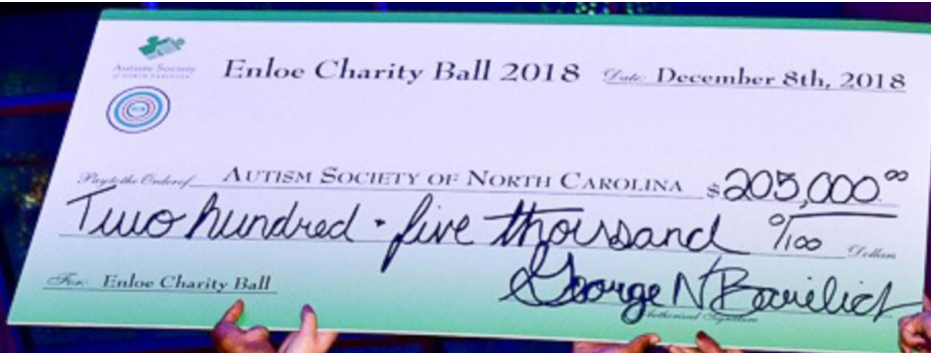

Disability Doesn't Mean Inability. The 2018 Enloe Charity Ball beneficiary is the Autism Society of North Carolina's IGNITE program. The Autism Society of North Carolina is a statewide nonprofit that aims to improve the lives of individuals with autism, support their families, and educate communities across America. The incredible $205,000 raised this year will be going towards the IGNITE Raleigh program. The IGNITE center opened this fall, and is the first organization in Raleigh that specifically works with young adults with autism to provide them with social and community opportunities to build independence and relationships. Throughout the fall, many students had the opportunity to meet young adults at the IGNITE center to bake cookies or have a game night together, Dungeons and Dragons and Uno being some of their favorites. This year, Enloe Charity Ball had their own float in the Raleigh Christmas Parade, and students walked alongside members of the Autism Society representing Enloe and what it means to be Mo Bamba. The 14th annual Charity Ball was hosted at the Marbles Kids Museum on December 8th, 2018 at 7 pm. This year had approximately 1450 people in attendance, the largest in all of Charity Ball's history. Marbles lit up with exuberance as it was announced to the public that $205,000 was raised for this deserving cause. Enloe has raised nearly one million dollars for charity over the fast fourteen years. Enloe Charity Ball is a reminder of the lasting and meaningful impact student leaders can make in our community. Some highlights of this year's Charity Ball were the fantastic crepe chef in the Zanzibar Room and the enthusiastic DJ. Directly after the check presentation, the DJ said "3, 2, 1" and played Mo Bamba by Sheck Wes. The students and teachers joined together to dance to the song and celebrate the amazing accomplishment of our school. More space was opened up in Marbles Kids Museum than prior years, so attendees were able to explore Marbles during the dance. Upstairs, a donor banquet was held for the members of our community who made large contributions to Charity Ball, for this achievement would not be possible without their support. Charity Ball is one of the most memorable nights of the year for Enloe, the beneficiary, and the community at large.
